Information

Senator RH620 steps up space and offshore confidence without losing everyday practicality. With around 4.0 m² of usable deck area, there's room for crew, chilly bins and dive gear, plus the freedom to move when the bite comes on.

High sides, generous freeboard and Senator's welded pontoon buoyancy create a settled, reassuring platform at rest, while the deep-vee hull delivers a soft, dry run in short coastal chop. The hardtop keeps you protected through winter missions and spray-ridden transits, so you'll go further, more often, in real NZ conditions.

Built from marine-grade aluminium, Senator RH620 is tough, simple to wash down and ready for work the next day. It remains practical to tow, launch and store for a boat of its capability, making it a popular step-up for active crews.

Pair with a Yamaha or Mercury outboard motor for balanced performance and range, then tailor electronics, seating, bait-station and storage to how you fish and dive. If your adventures include wider runs, bigger days and more gear, Senator RH620 is the proven Kiwi hardtop that keeps pace.
