Information

Senator RH770 is built for big water and big plans. Expansive cockpit space, commanding freeboard and the reassurance of pontoon buoyancy make it a calm, capable platform for blue-water missions, gamefishing and extended coastal adventures.

The deep-vee entry tracks surely through sloppy seas for a dry, composed ride, while the wide, stable stance makes baiting, netting and diving feel controlled. There's room to spread out — from chilly bins to heavy tackle — and the layout supports long drifts, harbour overnights and offshore runs when the weather allows. Constructed in marine-grade aluminium, the Senator RH770 is strong, practical and straightforward to clean down after big days.

Pair with a Yamaha or Mercury outboard motor to suit your load and range, then integrate the electronics and comfort touches that make long missions less effort and more reward. If you're stepping up to a boat that handles NZ's open-coast realities with space to move and confidence to push wider, the Senator RH770 is built for it.
